

Automations of Printing and Notifications

We Make It Possible!

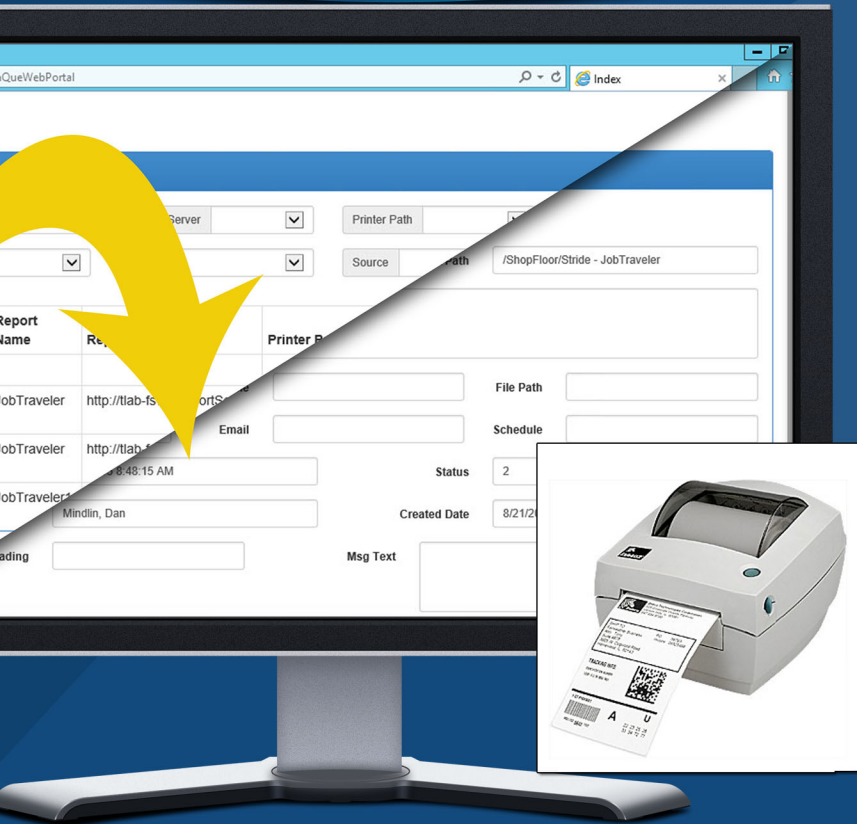

Our web based console offers the flexibility to manage your print queue. This allows the automation of printing and sending out email notifications. Using our inQue product can help eliminate the need for bar tender. Assign any printer or email address and your software can post the job to inQue and we handle the rest.

Speed & Flexibility

InQue will process jobs with speed and efficiency. You will be able to scan an order and print a label in near real time. With inQue, the ability to schedule jobs to print nightly or in the morning and send out copies to emails, makes for a flexible delivery system with the power of on demand printing from the users PC.

Get Results!

When it comes to printing reports, travelers, shipments, or nightly exception logs, the inQue system is there to make the printing and delivery of your business critical data easy and reliable.
